

Elliot Maginot. In May of 2021, Elliot Maginot returned to center-stage with Easy Morning, a predominantly acoustic album co-produced with Connor Seidel (Les sœurs Boulay, Charlotte Cardin) that combines gentle strings with warm brass and West African tones.

Since then, Elliot Maginot has been traveling the roads of Quebec to present his show. The artist, who is accumulating sell-out shows, played in front of an enthralled Outremont Theatre for his Montreal premiere, in September of 2022. The additional show at Club Soda on March 16 of 2023 was also sold out.

He also earned two nominations at the last ADISQ Gala in the categories Show of the Year (anglophone) and Album of the Year (anglophone), in addition to being on the long list of the prestigious Polaris Prize.

On November 10th of this year, Elliot Maginot returned to old ways with a new Christmas composition, Christmas on my Mind. A true lover of holiday festivities, he will stop by the cosy Chapelle du Rang 1 in Mégantic to present four Christmas shows accompanied by his guests Ariane Roy, Hanorah and Stéphanie Boulay on December 15-16-17th before hitting the road for the final presentations of his show, Easy Morning, and devoting himself to the writing of his next album scheduled for winter 2024.
